As all of us know, COVID-19 has been infecting the earth for pretty long. The virus has killed many, and an ad on YouTube expressed how bad COVID-19 was, a man dying 3 time and being zapped back to life. COVID is dangerous, and our Brooklyn Borough President, Eric Adams, has been doing all he can to stop the spread here. Also, a new variant has come by. The Delta Variant. That, too, has been affecting many.

Eric Adams said "As we fight the Delta variant and work to boost vaccination rates, we must remember this: at the end of the day, we are all New Yorkers. And in times of crisis, we come together." In the end, we all have to came together to fight Covid and the Delta variant crisis. There has been a donation of 3 oxygen from Davinder Singh. " While each of these hospitals are adequately equipped and staffed to manage the current wave of COVID-19 infections, they all welcome such donations from members of the community." These oxygen machines help the hospital they were given to treat COVID, Delta, ETC. Eric Adams announced "Mr. Singh's generous donation truly embodies the spirit of One Brooklyn, where we seek to build bridges between cultures and celebrate our diversity." Those machines mean a lot to them, helping the people in need, sick of COVID or the Delta variant
